

Sumo MM Communications & Conduct Policy

Purpose

To standardize client communications and internal language around MM and trading operations.

Goals

- standardize client communications across MM and launch operations
- reduce operational and reputational risk from screenshots or leaked conversations
- ensure communication remains aligned with supported Sumo functionality and execution behavior

Assume all messages can become public.

General Communication Principles

Avoid:

- slang implying manipulation
- implying retail investor deception
- promises of price outcomes or chart structure
- language implying artificial activity
- discussion around “looking organic”
- discussion around avoiding analytics/detection

Communication should remain:

- trade-execution focused
- operational and technical
- framed around supported Sumo strategy functionality

If a message sounds bad out of context or when screenshotted, rewrite it.

Restricted Phrasing

Avoid directly engaging with phrasing such as:

- “add/run/increase volume”
- “increase trading activity”
- “make chart bullish”
- “paint the chart”
- “shake out holders”
- “add holders”
- “farm”
- “wash”
- “launder”
- “rug”
- “suppress price”
- “bypass screeners”
- “avoid bubblemaps”
- “make it look organic”
- “simulate activity”
- “make it seem active”
- “we’ll hold this floor”
- “we’re creating a range”
- “we’ll send it higher”
- “we’ll paint the chart”
- “we’re creating a bull flag”
- “we’ll make it bullish”

Do NOT:

- directly acknowledge or agree to the request (no direct response thread on TG)
- validate manipulative framing
- give direct “yes” responses
- mirror the same terminology back to the client

Never guarantee price behavior, chart structure, or market outcomes.

What To Do Instead

If a request is blatant:

- delay response if possible
- redirect conversation
- avoid prolonged written discussion

If responding:

- discuss execution, treasury, participation, or supported Sumo strategy behavior only
- keep responses technical and operational
- reframe the conversation around strategy configuration and execution behavior

The preferred approach is to defer, deflect, or redirect.

Showing Activity Instead of Explaining

Prefer demonstrating strategy configuration over debating terminology or intent.

Instead of debating the wording, send:

- active DCA strategies
- counters
- limit orders
- strategy configurations
- treasury balances (/balance in TG)
- strategy usage metrics

Then follow with:

“We can adjust these as needed depending on your preferred strategy configuration.”

Translation Matrix

Client Phrase	Internal Translation
Support	Increase net buy-side participation in range

Running / increase volume	Increase DCA size, trade frequency, and participation
Increase trading activity	Increase market participation

Client Phrase	Internal Translation
Farming	Heavier / more aggressive selling within range
Token wash / launder	Wallet rotation / wallet redistribution / wallet swap
Rug	ideally do not engage whatsoever But can use “exit MM supply position”
Add holders	Increase supply distribution amongst wallets
Make bullish / “we’ll make it bullish”	Stronger buy-side participation
Hold level	Increase treasury deployment near range
Create range	Increase liquidity concentration near range
Paint chart / “we’ll paint the chart”	Increase market participation
Shake out holders	Increase sell-side pressure
Avoid bubblemaps / bypass screeners	Wallet redistribution strategy
Launder funds	Privacy swap
Organic / natural activity	Continuous strategy-driven participation
Simulate / “make it seem active”	Increase participation frequency
“We’ll send it higher”	Increase buy-side participation
“We’re creating a bull flag”	Maintain stronger buy-side participation

Safe Redirect Responses

Volume / Activity

“We don’t target volume directly- activity comes from our current trading strategies that are running. We can adjust if needed.”

Chart / “Make it bullish”

“Our focus is on maintaining treasury liquidity and structure. We can increase buy-side participation during pullbacks.”

“Make it look natural”

“Strategies already run continuously based on market conditions- we can tune frequency and size if needed though.”

Key Rule

If it sounds bad out of context or when screenshotted, don't say it.
